1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 5-11 and 14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Ming-Kang (5,456,626). Figure 3 of Kang discloses a fragrance dispenser including a whale body 1, a replaceable fragrance chamber 2, a release valve 22, a blowhole spray head 28, a spray tube 23, and an activator 3 in a whale's eye that is part of the head.

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 12, 13 and 15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Ming-Kang (5,456,626) in view of Burnett et al. (6,026,9987) and Shu (6,315,163). Kang discloses a whale fragrance dispenser substantially as claimed but does not disclose locating the activator on the tail nor the spray head at various locations on the whale. However, the alternate embodiment in figure 2 teaches locating the spray head on the rear of the figurine at 25 and an alternate activator 41 on the bottom of the figurine. Burnett teaches locating spray heads 16 at various locations throughout a figurine. Shu teaches locating an dispensing activator on either the head or the back of a figurine. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to locate the spray head or the activator on the tail or the mouth because one of ordinary skill in the art would have recognized any location on the figurine to be an obvious and possible location for a spray head or an actuator in view of the varied locations taught by figure 2 of Kang, or Burnett or Shu and that any location on a figurine, including the mouth and tail, would function equally well in activating and dispensing fragrance.

5. Applicant's arguments with respect to the claims have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

6. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
